Generations of WHY

By the time I was just a teenager, my life had been impacted by heart disease in many ways. Although I eventually lost my brother and father to heart failure, I am grateful for the gift of the additional time with them thanks to research and drug trials funded by the American Heart Association. This precious time allowed my father to watch me get married, meet his grandchildren and make memories I will cherish forever.

Sixteen years ago, my beautiful daughter Josephina, died at just four days old from congenital heart failure. I became determined to join hands with the American Heart Association and fight for a world free of heart disease and stroke. My beautiful miracle baby, Gracie Rose, is now a flourishing 14-year-old and her and Josephine are my why, every single day.

My mother and I both currently live with cardiomyopathy and we are eternally grateful for the research and advances in medicine that continue to provide us with quality of life. Thank you for supporting the American Heart Association and their mission to be a relentless force for a world of longer, healthier lives. Your donations and participation in the Heart Walk are funding lifesaving research that keeps hearts like mine beating and helps families like mine survive heart disease, stroke, and congenital heart defects.
