

REESE JACKSON, President & Chief Executive Officer
Chesapeake Regional Healthcare

Reese Jackson, JD, MHA, FACHE is an accomplished health care strategist with more than two decades of progressive leadership experience in diverse health care organizations across the country.

Mr. Jackson joined Chesapeake Regional Healthcare in 2016 and is leading the health system's $135M facility improvement project to enhance and expand its services. He values teamwork and believes in a work culture that promotes mutual respect, accountability, and high performance. Keeping Chesapeake Regional's mission in mind, Mr. Jackson strives to improve health and well-being in the region by matching strategic planning and clinical services to community needs.

Previously the President and CEO of Forbes Hospital, in Monroeville, Pennsylvania, part of Allegheny Health Network, Mr. Jackson led the hospital to outstanding performance and stability amid a period of severely constrained resources and fierce competition. During his tenure, he and his team implemented a trauma program to become a certified Level II Trauma Center.

Having received his master's degree in Health Administration from Virginia Commonwealth University, and Juris Doctor from the University of Richmond, Mr. Jackson has strong ties to the Commonwealth and is happy to be back in Virginia. He's been married to his wife, Mary Ann, for nearly 30 years. They have two daughters, Isabella and Lacee, and two Schnoodles, Skittles and Spree. The family enjoys spending time together on the Northern Neck of the Chesapeake Bay.
