Our Mission

The American Heart Association is on a mission to be a relentless force for a world of longer, healthier lives.

Our Goal

Building on over 100 years of trusted leadership in cardiovascular and brain health, by 2028 the American Heart Association will drive breakthroughs and implement proven solutions in science, policy and care for healthier people and communities. The greatest discoveries in health must reach people where they are.

Our Theme

All our lives, we're told red means stop, danger, proceed with caution. But when it comes to women's heart health, Red Means Go. Go Red for Women is the American Heart Association's signature women's initiative, dedicated to raising awareness of cardiovascular disease as the leading cause of death in women. The movement empowers women to take charge of their heart health while addressing critical gaps in research, education, and care. Women's heart health is more than a hot topic, it's changing the lives of our mothers, sisters, and friends—now is the moment to engage, educate, and empower. Life moves fast. But when it comes to women's health, delays are no longer an option. When we say Go Red for Women, we mean Red Means Go.

CVS Health and Go Red for Women are fighting back against the No. 1 killer of women.

CVS Health proudly supports the American Heart Association's Go Red for Women® movement as a national sponsor committed to supporting women's heart health at every age and stage by funding lifesaving cardiovascular research and education and supporting community based health initiatives.

From the Heart

Dear Friends,

Welcome to the 2026 Go Red for Women® signature experience. I am delighted that you are here. The energy is electric as we come together again to celebrate and support women's heart and brain health.

As the Go Red for Women movement enters its third decade, we have made extraordinary progress in raising awareness, advancing research and advocating for policies to improve women's cardiovascular health. Yet women continue to be underdiagnosed, undertreated and underrepresented in research.

Now in its seventh year, the Research Goes Red platform engages women in studies exploring solutions for their unique cardiovascular health challenges and needs.

The Go Red for Women Venture Fund invests in companies that are translating science into evidence-based products and services to improve women's health.

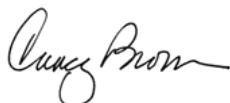

Still other initiatives are expanding pathways for women to enter careers in science, technology, engineering and math so they can continue transforming health systems from the inside as decision-makers, researchers and clinicians.

Going Red means so much more than wearing a color. Going Red means coming together, lifting our voices and locking arms to protect the heart and brain health of women across all ages and stages of life.

Going Red means empowering women to know their cardiovascular risk and take action today to ensure a healthier tomorrow.

Thank you for being part of this lifesaving global movement.

All my best,

Nancy Brown

Heart disease hits close to everyone's home.

Our "Why" is our founder Kevin Koenig. Because of Kevin, we've been able to touch countless homes. Now, we're honoring him by helping to save countless lives. We're proud to stand with the American Heart Association in their mission to be a relentless force for a world of longer, healthier lives. #citycares

From the Chairperson

Dear Champions of Heart,

Welcome to the Broward Go Red Luncheon. I am so excited to be here with you today, surrounded by an incredible community of leaders, friends, and advocates who care deeply about the health and well-being of women.

Go Red has always been close to my heart because it represents action, connection, and purpose. For more than two decades, this movement has shined a light on the reality that heart disease remains the leading cause of death for women, while also empowering us with the tools, knowledge, and support to change that story.

This year's experience brings fresh energy and an important reminder we all need. Red Means GO. Women are known for taking care of everyone else first, juggling full calendars and full lives, but our health cannot wait. Today is about pressing pause just long enough to say yes to ourselves, learning something new, and taking that next meaningful step toward a healthier future.

What makes Go Red so special is the people in this room. Through philanthropy, leadership, and generosity, you are creating real impact that reaches far beyond today's event. Together, we are building stronger communities and opening doors to better health for women at every stage of life.

Thank you for showing up, for leaning in, and for being part of this powerful movement. I hope today inspires you, energizes you, and reminds you just how much good we can do when we come together.

With gratitude,

Daren Koenig Cronin
