

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT HOURS

The American Heart Association's Kids Heart Challenge™ and American Heart Challenge™ support your students' physical, social and emotional health. With our interactive technologies, stories from children with special hearts and mind-building challenges, your students will increase their knowledge and improve their health.

Your role in bringing these programs to life in your school is essential, and we thank you. You may receive up to 12 professional development hours for your efforts. Our Professional Development Reflection Tool provides educators a formal self-evaluation based on Charlotte Danielson's Framework for Teaching.

STEPS TO RECEIVE YOUR PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT HOURS

1. American Heart Association Certificate

To receive your American Heart Association certificate of hours, complete the Reflection Tool worksheet (found in your Headquarters) and email it to kidsheartchallenge@heart.org.

2. Professional Development Administrator

Submit your certificate, along with any required district documentation, to your Professional Development Administrator.

Please note: Final hours awarded are determined by districts and state standards.
